Introduction

The OLC (Europe) College Handbook is intended to give students guidance on what is expected from them during their time at the College, what they can expect from the College in return, and an introduction to the forms and procedures they will need to fill out and follow in the course of their studies.

Dedicated to providing students with the best learning experience possible, OLC (Europe) adheres to the teaching practice of “Learning by Doing” to ensure that each and every student has the optimal chance of achieving their potential.

If anything in this handbook is unclear please see a member of OLC Staff for clarification. The College is open every weekday, except Bank Holidays, and staff will be available for guidance on college, academic or personal issues from 9am to 5pm.

The Government emphasis that schools are required to ensure that key ‘British Values’ are taught in all UK schools.

The Five British Values are:

- Democracy
- The Rule of Law
- Individual Liberty
- Mutual Respect
- Tolerance of those of different faiths and beliefs

OLC will ensure to promote these values inside and outside of the classroom. We follow equal opportunities guidance which guarantees that there will be no discrimination against any individual or group, regardless of faith, ethnicity, gender, sexuality, political or financial status, or similar. OLC is dedicated to preparing students for their adult life beyond the formal examined curriculum and ensuring that it promotes and reinforces British values to all its students.

Students will be introduced to the principles surrounding British Values and the government’s PREVENT programme during induction onto the course.

Assessment Guidance

At the Organisational Learning Centre you will be given a variety of different assessment types in order to give you the very best chance of meeting the learning outcomes for your programmes. There are different pass grades attainable on each assessment: Pass, Merit and Distinction. Every assessment may not offer the chance to attain all three grades, but there will be chances for you to gain all three within every unit. If you receive a referral for an assessment then you have not met the requirements to pass and you will need to resit/resubmit.

Remember that you must pass all your assessments in order to pass the unit, and you must pass all of your units, however in some circumstances there may be one compensated unit in order to complete your programme.

Each of the different assessment types has different requirements that you should be familiar with. Some of the different types you might be given are:

Assignment: These are tasks given for you to complete outside of scheduled lesson time, within a given timescale (usually around 4 weeks). They can take the form of either a written report or essay. The individual requirements for these will vary from assignment to assignment, but there are several which are universal.

Tasks should always be word processed and be written in a student's own words; plagiarising the work of others will result in failure of the assignment and possible further action being taken against you. Any and all references to outside knowledge and theories should be completed in the Harvard style. Any previously marked drafts of your assignment must be included when you hand in your assignment.

Once completed, assignments should be handed in via Turnitin..

Assignment briefs for completion will be made available in the unit guides for each unit and spares will be available on the college VLE Moodle. As deadlines approach you will also be able to ask for spare assignment briefs at the front office of your campus.

Exam-Style Time Constrained Assessment: Questions and tasks given to be completed under examination conditions. These time constrained assignments are usually 1-3 hours long. Answers are to be written within the provided answer booklet unless instructions on the question paper state otherwise. Always ensure that you have filled in the front of these answer booklets with all your relevant information.

One or more invigilators will be present while the time constrained assessment is underway. If you need anything during the assessment then raise your hand and the invigilator will see you. Invigilators will help you understand the questions on the paper but will not help you with the answers. The assessment will be held in silence and all mobile phones should be turned off. Breaches of the examination conditions may lead invigilators expelling you from the assessment with your paper ungraded. Serious breaches may lead to further action being taken against you.

Presentations: Individual or group presentations to be given in front of an audience. You will be given a question or task and will have to prepare a presentation in order to answer/complete it. These presentations will have strict time limits, usually around 5-20 minutes, and must contain a certain amount of presentation slides. Within these presentations it is not just your answers which are being assessed but also your presentation and communications skills. A paper copy of your presentation slides is to be submitted at the time of delivering your presentation, and your tutor may also set a written report to support it.

Projects: Projects follow the same basic rules as assignments but are longer and more detailed. As such, you will have a longer amount of time in order to prepare them. Projects usually are based on answering research questions or solving and implementing solutions to programme specific problems. Once complete, the project is submitted in the same way as an assignment.

Portfolios: Portfolios of work are made up from several smaller pieces of work that come together to form a collection showing that you have met the learning outcomes of your unit. These pieces of work may be worked upon in class or in your own time. Once the portfolio is complete it should be submitted in the same manner as assignments.

A Note on Plagiarism and Examination Offences

Plagiarism is the act of reproducing someone else's work and presenting it as your own. This can be as minor as simply forgetting to reference an idea, to as serious as handing in work which has been directly copied from a book, website, another student or any other source. Plagiarism is bad academic practice and if you are found to have deliberately committed plagiarism then action will be taken against you.

No action will usually be taken where the plagiarism is just due to accidental referencing errors, other than the assignment being referred.

For major incidences of plagiarism your work will be referred to the programme manager, who will decide what action to take.

Examination offences include talking or cheating during time constrained assessments, bringing in unauthorised materials or devices, disruptive behaviour and any other behaviour or action that might threaten the reliability of the assessment results. If you are believed to have committed an examination offence, the invigilator will seize your work and remove you from the assessment room; you will then be referred to the programme manager who will take further action.

Almost all plagiarism and examination offences will result in you receiving a formal written warning. You may be invited to a viva meeting, intervention meeting in the case of academic misconduct. The ultimate penalty for plagiarism and examination offences is expulsion from the college.

If you feel that any decision on plagiarism or examination offences has been made against you unfairly, or in error, you have the right to appeal. In the case where a decision has been made to expel you from the college, an appeal hearing will be arranged automatically. Refer to the appeals section of the College Handbook for further information on the appeals process.

The Role of the Personal Tutor:

The personal tutor's role includes:

- To meet with you for a minimum of 15 minutes each term
- Being first line of the complaints / support procedure
- To track attendance and punctuality
- To initiate the intervention process for poor attendance and punctuality
- To initiate the intervention process for non-submissions
- To discover any issues / barriers for non-submissions
- To direct you to the correct place for information
- To set goals
- To send you mitigating circumstances / request for leave forms

It is important to attend any requested meetings and to keep your unit tutor/programme lead or student services informed of any changes in your circumstances.

Appeals and Complaints Policy

Policy Contents

2. Appeals
3. Complaints
4. Further Points of Appeal/Complaint
5. The Office of the Independent Adjudicator for Higher Education (OIA)
6. Policy Monitoring and Review

1. Introduction

It is the aim of this policy to ensure that all students and applicants of the College have the right to appeal any decision made or grade given by the College which they consider is unfair, biased or not taking into account all facts relevant to the situation. In all cases the College encourages students to seek resolution informally by bringing issues to the attention of relevant administrators, personal tutors, subject tutor or programme manager.

This policy also aims to ensure that all students or applicants are able to make complaints about actions made, or otherwise, by the College, or relating to any dealing the complainant had with the College.

The College is committed to handling appeals and complaints in a fair and unbiased manner. This policy is intended to be read in line with the Equal Opportunities Policy.

This policy aligns with the expectation and core principles of the QAA Quality Code for Higher Education.

2. Appeals

The College considers appeals to be formal requests from students or applicants to reconsider decisions. Requests constituting formal appeals might include, but are not necessarily limited to, the following:

- requests to amend an award grade;
- appeals against disciplinary action, up to and including expulsion from the College;
- requests to reconsider admission decisions.

In order to facilitate students and applicants making a formal appeal, the College provides relevant documentation. Specialised appeals and mitigating circumstances forms have been created for this purpose. Documents relating to making appeals are made available to students and applicants through the following channels:

- on the College website;
 - from the reception/front office of the relevant campus;
 - from Student Welfare Officers or Personal Tutors upon request;
 - in the College Handbook;
 - via community champions, if applicable;
- upon formal request, i.e. via letter or telephone conversation Appeals should be made using the aforementioned documents to the Director of Student Experience and Enhancements.

Appeals will be considered by an Appeals Panel, under the governance of the Director of Student Experience and Enhancements. Appeals will be handled in a formal and objective manner, promptly and with a due amount of diligence.

The Appeals Panel will inform the appellant of any further documentation needed to consider their application and allow suitable time for submission of these documents. Where an appeals hearing is required, the Appeals Panel will arrange a time and date and inform the appellant in good time of any requirements. Appellants will always be allowed the company of an advocate during any appeal hearing.

Results/findings of appeals will be communicated to the appellant at the earliest suitable opportunity. Results of appeals will be fed into Quality and Standards meetings for monitoring and review.

The decision of the Appeals Panel is final.

Advice and guidance on all stages of the appeals process will be made available to appellants through Student Welfare Officers and Personal Tutors.

3. Complaints

Individuals with concerns can have an informal discussion with their course tutors, personal tutors, Programme Manager or staff at College campuses in order to resolve the issue.

Complaints will be treated seriously, and complainants will not suffer any disadvantage or recrimination as a result of making a complaint in good faith. Guidance for student complainants is given within the College Handbook. In all cases, it is desirable that complaints are resolved informally and quickly between the relevant parties, and that the formal process is only started if that fails.

Formal complaints will be dealt with in a fair and unbiased manner, in line with the College's Equal Opportunities Policy. Complaints must be submitted on the relevant complaints form to be considered a formal complaint. Complaints should be in writing to the Director of Student Experience and Enhancements.

There may be times when a student submits a complaint, the subject of which is actually an appeal, or vice versa. In these cases, the College may decide to reclassify the complaint or appeal, at whatever stage of the procedure that has been reached, and the College will inform the student of this.

The complaint will be investigated by the appropriate people and a panel set up (usually headed by the Director of Student Experience and Enhancements) to consider the complaint at which the complainant may make an oral presentation to supplement the written complaint.

Notification of the outcome will be given in writing. A complaint report will be presented to the College's Board of Directors, where the College's actions will be evaluated for effectiveness. Only after exhausting the College's arrangements for handling complaints, may a complainant be able to complain to any external authority, such as BAC, Pearson or OIA.

If complainants are in any doubt about where to direct their complaint, they should seek advice from a Student Welfare Officer or Personal Tutor who will then make the necessary arrangements or advise the complainant about what steps to take. If complainants do not have access, or do not wish to have access, to a Student Welfare Officer or Personal Tutor, e.g. in cases where complainants are not registered students at the College, or where complainants wish to complain about the actions of their Student Welfare Officer or Personal Tutor, they should write to the Director of Student Experience and Enhancements for further advice.

Complaints about the actions of individual tutors/lecturers should, in the first instance, be taken up with the Director of Student Experience and Enhancements. Complaints about the actions of the Director of Student Experience and Enhancements should be taken up with the Board of Directors, via the Principal.

If the issues have not been resolved satisfactorily, students can pursue their complaint further via our partner college complaints and appeals procedures. More information is available from:

4. Further Points of Appeal/Complaint

Once the students have exhausted appeal/complaint channels, students also have the opportunity to pursue their appeal or complaint via the following bodies:

- BAC (British Accreditation Council)
- Pearson
- OIA (Office of the Independent Adjudicator)

5. The Office of the Independent Adjudicator for Higher Education (OIA)

The OIA offers an independent scheme for the review of student complaints and appeals and will review complaints / appeals made by students or former students that have been through the College's internal procedure and have not been satisfactorily resolved, as well as the College's procedures and still remain dissatisfied.

The College notifies students when it is satisfied that all internal procedures for an appeal, complaint or disciplinary matter have been completed. The OIA considers applications only after this point has been reached, and all applications must satisfy the OIA's eligibility criteria.

Further information about the OIA and how to make an application is available from the OIA website.

6. Policy Monitoring and Review

This policy is monitored in order to ensure that it remains relevant and supports appeals and complaints practice. Full review of the policy occurs annually.

Mitigating Circumstances Guidance

Notes for the Student – please read carefully

The Mitigating Circumstances Report Form (included below) must be completed if the Mitigating Circumstances Committee appointed by the Board of Examiners is to take account of any extenuating circumstances when considering your academic performance.

You should complete all sections. If necessary, continue on separate sheets (signed by you and attached to this form). The completed form must be signed by the Programme Lead.

Any information you provide will be treated confidentially and will only be seen by the Mitigating Circumstances Committee. If it proves necessary to disclose this information to another party, this will not be done unless you give your explicit written permission.

Wherever possible you must supply written evidence. This should be a statement from a person competent to assess your situation professionally. Examples: Doctor's note, a court notice, police report, a letter from Programme Lead, Tutor or Student Welfare Officer, etc.

The completed form, and attached evidence, must be submitted to the Student Support Office or Programme Manager, by the end of the appropriate College Assessment period

The Mitigating Circumstances Committee sits every month to make recommendations to the External Examinations Board. A note of the Board's decision regarding your application will be forwarded to you. Please email jsemmens@olceurope.com for a copy of that decision.

Grounds for Mitigation

1. Grounds for mitigation are unforeseeable or unpreventable circumstances that could have a significant adverse effect on the academic performance of a student. Possible mitigating circumstances include:-

- significant illness or injury;
- the death or critical/significant illness of a close family member/dependent;
- family crises or major financial problems leading to acute stress;
- absence for jury service or maternity, paternity or adoption leave.

2. Circumstances that will not normally be regarded as grounds for mitigation include

- holidays and events that were planned or could reasonably have been expected;
- assessments that are scheduled close together;
- misreading the timetable or misunderstanding the requirements for assessments;
- inadequate planning and time management;
- failure, loss or theft of a computer or printer that prevents submission of work on time: (students should back up work regularly and not leave completion so late that they cannot find another computer or printer);
- consequences of paid employment;

- exam stress or panic attacks not diagnosed as illness.
3. For the avoidance of doubt, pregnancy is not an illness but an altered state of normality, so that unless the woman has an illness, she decides how near to the birth she will work. Events may arise during pregnancy that may constitute mitigating circumstances, and these need to be judged on an individual basis. Note that U.K. legislation does not allow a woman to work in the first six weeks following the birth.
 4. Absence from the College during the semester for any period of no more than five working days will not normally be regarded as grounds for mitigation unless the absence occurred for good cause within a two-week period immediately preceding a formal college examination or the deadline for submitting a piece of assessed course work or delivering an assessed presentation.
